

Madhyamaka, the philosophy of the middle, systematized the Buddhas fundamental teaching on no-self with its profound non-essentialist reading of reality. Founded in India by Nagarjuna in about the second century CE, Madhyamaka philosophy went on to become the dominant strain of Buddhist thought in Tibet and exerted a profound influence on all the cultures of East Asia. Within the extensive Western scholarship inspired by this school of thought, David Seyfort Rueggs work is unparalleled in its incisiveness, diligence, and scope. The Buddhist Philosophy of the Middle brings together Rueggs greatest essays on Madhyamaka, expert writings which have and will continue to contribute to our progressing understanding of this rich tradition.
