

The Frum Revolution: A Comprehensive Solution to the Off-the-Derech Crisis

A chance reunion in a war zone with a former Yeshiva classmate leads David back to his hometown of Monsey, New York, in an attempt to reconnect to Judaism for the first time since his childhood. Along the journey he meets Larry, an innovative educator developing a back-to-the-basics curriculum that remedies some of the pitfalls inherent in mainstream Yeshiva education. Together, they set out to stem the tide of children falling out of the system by promoting real independence in Hebrew reading, prayer and Torah learning, as well as a healthy dose of Vitamin E (for Emunah).
